TACOMA DEFIANCE UPDATE

Tacoma Defiance saw its 2025 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup run come to an end in the Round of 32 on Tuesday night with a 3-2 loss against the Portland Timbers. Two early second-half goals by Osaze De Rosario and Yu Tsukanome weren't enough to secure the victory as Portland converted a late penalty kick to seal the match.

In MLS NEXT Pro play, Defiance leads the Western Conference with 15 points (5-2-0), currently riding a three-match winning streak. Tacoma next travels to Whitecaps FC 2 on Wednesday, May 14 at Swangard Stadium (6:00 p.m. PT / Apple TV).

THE MOOSE IS STILL LOOSE

Seattle forward Danny Musovski scored in his fourth-straight match against St. Louis on May 3, the longest streak of his MLS career. His four MLS goals and five total goals in all competitions lead the team.

Musovski became the fourth Sounder in club history to score in four-straight matches in a single regular season, joining Fredy Montero (twice), Obafemi Martins and Jordan Morris. The record for most-consecutive matches with a goal in a single season is five, which both Montero and Martins reached in 2009 and 2015, respectively. Raúl Ruidíaz has scored in six straight regular season appearances, but it was over the course of two seasons, and he did not appear in all six matches consecutively.

SOUNDERS SIGN OSAZE DE ROSARIO

Sounders FC announced on May 8 that it has signed Tacoma Defiance forward Osaze De Rosario through the remainder of the 2025 season, with club options for 2026 and 2027. The 23-year-old signs with the Rave Green after joining Tacoma prior to the 2024 MLS NEXT Pro season. De Rosario currently leads MLS NEXT Pro this season with eight goals through five matches and scored two goals during Defiance's 2025 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup run.

"Osaze's path to the First Team is another example of how our developmental system is designed to work," said Sounders FC General Manager & Chief Soccer Officer Craig Waibel. "Osaze has taken full advantage of his time with our staff with Defiance. He is currently performing at a high level and is showing the kind of professional growth we value. We believe he has the tools to continue to improve and to contribute in MLS. We're looking forward to seeing how he evolves within our environment."

De Rosario signed with Tacoma prior to the 2024 MLS NEXT Pro season, scoring six goals in 22 appearances (13 starts) in his first year with the club while helping the team reach the MLS NEXT Pro Western Conference Semifinals. In 2025, he leads the league with eight goals in five fixtures, scoring braces against LAF2 (April 10, 2025) and Sporting KC II (April 23, 2025). The forward also recorded strikes against Oakland Roots SC (April 15, 2025) and the Portland Timbers (May 6, 2025) in Defiance's 2025 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup run, reaching the Round of 32.

"Osaze has earned this opportunity with the First Team," said Sounders FC Head Coach Brian Schmetzer. "His performance with Tacoma Defiance has been consistently strong since he joined the club last year. He's shown an admirable work rate and a real striker's instinct in front of goal. We're excited to integrate him into the squad and see what he can bring at the MLS level."

Prior to his time with Tacoma, De Rosario played for York United FC of the Canadian Premier League from 2022-2023, recording 19 goals and six assists in all competitions in 57 appearances (43 starts). He scored 12 goals and bagged four assists in league play in 2022, also recording a goal in the Canadian Championship against Pacific FC. De Rosario tallied an additional six goals and two assists in league play the following year, making appearances for York United FC in both the Canadian Championship and Canadian Premier League Playoffs. Prior to playing for York, the forward played in both Toronto FC's and New York City FC's academies and had his first professional stint with Ukrainian club Rukh Lviv before joining York United.

On the international stage, De Rosario has seven caps for Guyana, including five strikes in the 2024-2025 Concacaf Nations League tournament, where he recorded four goals, scoring a hat trick against Barbados (November 20, 2024). He scored in his debut for Guyana in a 6-0 win over Antigua and Barbuda on November 22, 2023. De Rosario is the son of seven-time MLS All-Star and 2011 MLS MVP Dwayne De Rosario.

SONS OF MVPs

With his appearance via Short-Term Agreement on Saturday, Osaze De Rosario joined teammate Jesús Ferreira as the only players in MLS history to play in a match whose fathers are former MLS MVPs.

De Rosario's father, Dwayne De Rosario, played in MLS from 2001-2014 with San Jose, Houston, Toronto, New York Red Bulls and D.C. United, scoring 109 goals in MLS play. He won MLS MVP in 2011 following a 16-goal, 12-assist season with Red Bulls and D.C. United, winning the Golden Boot. He was also named to the MLS Best XI six times and is a seven-time MLS All-Star.

Jesús's father, David Ferreira, played for FC Dallas from 2009-2013, scoring 26 goals and 43 assists during his time with the club. He was named the 2010 MLS MVP following an eight goal, 13-assist season as well as awarded a spot on the 2010 MLS Best XI and named a 2010 MLS All-Star.

De Rosario recently signed with Seattle following two years with Tacoma Defiance, while Jesús Ferreira has scored 53 goals before the age of 25, second-most in league history, and currently leads Seattle with seven all-competitions assists.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Seattle has yet to lose at Lumen Field in 2025, amassing a 4-0-3 record in all competitions. The Rave Green have outscored their opponents 17-6 at home this year and are currently the only unbeaten team at home in the Western Conference and one of two teams in all of MLS that haven't lost a home fixture (Cincinnati).

Sounders FC has only lost twice in its last 25 MLS regular-season matches dating back to 2023 (12-2-11), including a 3-0-2 record to start 2025.

SOUNDERS FC UNVEILS THE SALISH SEA KIT

Seattle Sounders FC this season “The Salish Sea Kit,” part of adidas’ Community Kit collection and the club’s new secondary kit for the 2025-2026 Major League Soccer seasons. Featuring cool green and blue tones evoking Pacific Northwestern waters and a unique pattern derived from Coast Salish weaving traditions in collaboration with indigenous artists representing the Puyallup, Muckleshoot and Suquamish Tribes, The Salish Sea Kit serves a call to protect what sustains us and to celebrate the connections that make us whole.

This one-of-a-kind kit also has purpose beyond the pitch. Sounders FC is committed to donating proceeds up to $50,000 from the first 30 days of The Salish Sea Kit’s sales to organizations dedicated to preserving the cultural heritage of tribal communities and protecting the Salish Sea’s remarkable ecosystem, including: The Burke Museum, Potlatch Fund, Puget Soundkeeper, Seattle Aquarium and RAVE Foundation.

These funds will be thoughtfully invested to support youth education and arts programs honoring the traditions of Washington State’s tribal communities, advance conservation efforts to restore the health of the Salish Sea and provide meaningful experiences for tribal youth, including educational field trips and opportunities to attend Sounders FC matches.

Through these initiatives, Sounders FC aims to honor the interconnectedness of the region’s people and environment, creating a legacy that uplifts communities and inspires stewardship of the Salish Sea.

Born at the water’s edge in 1974, Sounders FC has been inextricably connected to the Puget Sound from the club’s earliest days. But the waters of the Sound – part of the greater Salish Sea – have a history far deeper and vaster, stretching back through the generations to time immemorial. The Salish Sea flows both literally through its waters and figuratively through its spirit, sustaining life and building strong communities. Sounders FC’s Salish Sea Kit honors water as a life force and a vessel for rich cultural traditions.

The jersey’s striking geometric pattern suggests a sense of dimensionality and flow, inspired by twilling and twining, two traditional Southern Coast Salish weaving techniques. These techniques, passed down through generations, pay respect to the resilience, connection and creativity that define the cultural fabric of the region.

The design draws directly from the artistry of three distinguished indigenous Pacific Northwestern artists Connie McCloud, Gail White Eagle and Danielle Morsette.

Coast Salish artist Louie Gong (Nooksack Tribe) played an instrumental role in bringing this group of collaborators together, recommending that the jersey’s story be told through the work of these three talented women who have now brought their weaving traditions to life on a global stage, constructing The Salish Sea Kit as an authentic and novel testament to Coast Salish tradition.

The phrase “Water Is Sacred” appears on the bottom left corner of each jersey front, proudly printed in both English and Southern Lushootseed, the traditional language of the Puyallup, Muckleshoot, Suquamish and neighboring Coast Salish tribes. This powerful statement underscores the deep cultural and spiritual connection to the Salish Sea and serves as a reminder of the shared responsibility to protect it.

The neck hit features an original design that combines a wave of water, the tail of an orca and a flowing “S” that represents both the Seattle Sounders and the Salish Sea. Anchored by the club’s birth year, 1974, this motif reflects a commitment to stewardship that spans generations – connecting the past, present and future in the fight to preserve our environment.

The right jersey sleeve showcases the logo of the Puyallup Tribe, an original steward of the land throughout what is now known as the Puget Sound. The tribe and its Emerald Queen Casino have partnered with Sounders FC since 2021.
